It is a large quarto, containing fifty-six columns, filled with interesting reading—editorial, state, local and general news, with selected telegrams and cables. It is published every day, except on Sundays and public holidays. It is sold at the office of publication, and at all newsstands and by mail. It is sent free to all subscribers who pay in advance. ## Local Matters.

The Liquor Licenses.

The three license commissioners are in constant attendance at their office on Mill street, and thus far they have found plenty of occupation. A total of 1,400 applications for liquor licenses has been received up to date, and the first batch of fifty-four has been duly acted upon.—the remonstrances heard, the bonds and sureties carefully examined, and those found satisfactory granted. Of this batch 48 are for retail and six for wholesale licenses, and there were only five remonstrances received, and but one plat, showing the place objected to be within 200 feet of a public school, was presented. The places of those who were granted licenses last night will be inspected by the commissioners to see that the law regarding them has been complied with, and if so they will be allowed to begin business on Monday, from which day all licenses thus far granted will date. As all licenses expire on the 30th day of April next, the fee for the licenses dated Sept. 2, will be $212.37 for retail, and $341.20 for wholesale.

The commissioners are proceeding very carefully, giving all remonstrants ample opportunity to be heard and carefully weighing the objections made. The excellent rule which has been adopted by them is that refusing to accept the same bondsman on more than three licenses. Of course the bondsman are responsible in a great measure for the conduct of the licensee and the more carefully will the dealers be looked after.

At the time the prohibitory amendment was passed there were sixty-eight licenses in Newport and eighty-two is the largest number ever granted here in any one year.

Excursions.

To-morrow, Sunday, the largest excursion of the season will come in here from Boston over the Old Colony road. At noon on Friday the company had sold three thousand tickets for this excursion which is the limit. It will take between sixty and seventy cars to bring this party to Newport. Our restaurant keepers will do well to prepare themselves to feed the multitude.

Yesterday the Old Colony brought in two excursion trains, one over the Providence division and one over the new road from Randolph to Somerset. Wednesday the road brought a large excursion from Plymouth and vicinity. This party required twenty-seven cars to take them away from Newport.

Next Tuesday's meeting of the Town and Country Club will be held on Sea View avenue, at the residence of General Culham who will read a paper on "Spain, from the Pyrenees to the Mediterranean," illustrated by the stereopticon.

The street railway, Anderson inquest closed Thursday, but the coroner will be unable to render a decision before the middle of next week, as the stenographer has yet to put his report into legible hand.

There will be no polo to-night on account of the coaching parade, but next week there will be three interesting matches, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

A slight fire was discovered in one of the show windows of Mr. S. Jacob's store, on Bellevue avenue late Sunday night, but it was extinguished without any alarm being given.

Mr. F. A. Abell, of Newport and New York, is one of the latest contributors to the fund for the local branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The regular September meeting of the city council will be held next Tuesday evening.

The Coming Steeplechases.

The committee in charge of the steeplechases to be held on Indian avenue on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21 and 22, are busily engaged in completing arrangements. The course has been laid out, the judges and grand stands erected, and already one may feel considerable excitement merely in looking over the ground. There are innumerable hurdles and jumps all of which can be covered from the grand stand and those who have visited the premises and noted the course are enthusiastic over the location and arrangement. Following is a partial programme of the two days:

First day, Sept. 21, steeplechase; the handicap steeplechase for $750; $400 to the first, $200 to the second, $50 to the third; entrance free; the steeplechase course, about 1.3-1 miles. ### Washington County Fair.

The fifteenth annual fair of the Washington County Agricultural Society will open at Kingston on Tuesday, Sept. 10, and continue three days, and promises to be the best in the history of the society. The entries for the exhibits are unusually large and the show in that department is sure to be first-class, while for the races some of the fastest horses in New England have been entered. On Wednesday, the president of the society, Hon. Rowland Hazard, will deliver his annual address, and remarks will also be made by Governor Ladd and others, while for Thursday a highly interesting literary programme has been arranged. Readings by a professional elocutionist will be interspersed with singing by some noted club.

Excursion rates will be made on all boats and trains to and from the grounds, giving to the people of this county an opportunity of attending at very little cost, and, there being no fair here this year, no doubt there will be a large attendance from this section.

Improvement Notes.

Mr. Ogden Goebel, whose partially completed villa on the Cliffs has attracted so much attention this summer, is also having a large brick stable built on Ledge and Lawrence avenues.

Three attractive new cottages are receiving finishing touches on Dean avenue.

About thirty-five comrades of C. C. Baker Post, G. A. R., of Wickford, made a fraternal visit to Charles F. Lawton Post Wednesday evening. They were met at the Etna landing by a delegation from the local post and escorted to G. A. R. Hall, where the evening was delightfully spent in renewing friendships and reviving war scenes. A beautiful collation was served.

The fire department committee will recommend at the next meeting of the city council the purchase of a new horse for the No. 5's reel, in place of the one recently died. There is a sufficient balance from the original purchase money without an extra appropriation.

There has been an unusually large run of blue fish off Newport the past week, and our fishermen have made several big hauls. Some of our amateur sportsmen, too, have done profitable work off the rocks near the second beach.

O'Neill, secretary, and Jeremiah S. Lynch, Daniel E. Sullivan, P. J. Boyle, J. T. O'Neill and James Dowling were appointed delegates.

A Busy Man.

Col. A. C. Landers is one of the busiest of men. His genius as an architect has made him a great favorite with our summer people and he has been in constant demand by them throughout the season. He has done all the decorating for the brilliant society entertainments, and thus having been a grand host every night this week he has been forced to work twenty-four hours a day to fill his engagements. He has met every obligation, however, and in a manner that will add to his already enviable reputation for genius and artistic skill. We congratulate him upon his successes this season.

Capt. Edwin Coggeshall has just received and hung up in his office on Commercial wharf, a beautiful oil painting of the steamer City of Paris. The citizens will be welcome to examine it, together with others of his collection. The ship City of Paris is 10,500 tons and is 582 feet long.

Rev. R. Gordon Mackay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church (Grace chapel) will begin a much needed vacation next Monday. During his absence his pulpit will be filled by different clergymen, Rev. Wm. Brenton Greene, Jr., preaching a week from to-morrow.

The Newport city election occurs one week from next Wednesday. As yet very little has been done openly in regard to the matter. What has been done in the back shops it is difficult to say. Probably the professional politicians on both sides have been at work, trying to gain their way.

Mr. Benjamin Crowell, a well known boatman living on Long wharf, died very suddenly yesterday morning from heart disease. He was seen about the wharf at 6 o'clock, apparently in his usual health, and an hour later he was dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Anna T. French spent the present week with Mr. French's parents at Harbor View, on Wellington avenue.

The Casino's Annual Ball.

The Casino's ninth annual subscription ball occurred Wednesday night and proved a prominent feature in the social events of this exceptionally gay and brilliant season. Neither labor nor expense had been spared in the preparations for the affair and the effects were a credit to the well-known genius of Col. A. C. Landers, the decorator. The broad piazzas were enclosed and beautifully illuminated and over $10,000 worth of tapestries, kindly loaned by Messrs. Sypher & Co., were used in the interior decorations. There were between 200 and 400 in attendance, although many of our prominent society people did not appear, doubtless because of weariness from the large number of entertainments which had been given almost nightly throughout the month. It really was a brilliant scene, and one apparently greatly enjoyed by every person present. The gentleman, lead by Mr. Thomas H. Howard and Mrs. Ogden Goebel, was danced immediately after the supper, which was served at midnight, and the favors were unique and beautiful.

Election of Officers.

It is announced that the last of Panama Canal laborers have left Isthmus. If no force is retained to take care of what has been done tropical nature will soon undo much of it.

Will the friends of the past year, and others kindly aid us in the ensuing year by their contributions to "rescue the perishing and care for the dying," and so realize the blessing of the Lord. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto me." Such that is interesting and cheering work may be learned by inquiring of William C. Langley, 411 Thames and Mary streets; or of Mr. James, 343 Thames street; Row, 111 Fitch, Farewell street; A. M. Kimball, Broadway; Mrs. H. Rogers, 13 Bond street; Mrs. M. E. Dyer, 6 Lincoln street, to either of whom money may be sent for this work.

At the moment I passed Columbia the batteries, powder mills, and the other stores accumulated at Augusta were the only two Confederate armies left in the South, and I thought, "So, if you have a military mind, you will see that I have a military use of Augusta, than if I had captured it with all its stores, for I have captured it and no use. I used Augusta as much as a battery; its garrison was just as good as helped me."

Augusta, I think, was the only place that the Confederates might have taken. If they were mistaken, or if they thought they were mistaken in strategy, let them make a mistake in strategy, let them make a mistake with the President's confidence, and I think I can send a detachment of 100,000 or 200,000 "Sherman's boys" to take the place, and the Confederates will finish up the job without charging me a cent. The truth is, the Confederates come back to me in a hum. I am in a vein.

Of course the civil war, should have ended with Vicksburg and Gettysburg. Every sensible man on earth must have seen there could not be but one result. The leaders of the South, who had been in the "hot ditch" for years, would have men like Walker, Adams, and Claiborne, etc., to do that. You can only see it by the light of the ## Household Hints.

A salve that is good for all kinds of wounds, etc., is made of equal parts of yellow wax and sweet oil. Melt slowly, carefully stirring. When cooling, stir in a small quantity of glycerine.

Cold tea is a good old-fashioned remedy for sore eyes. Bathe the eyes frequently, especially before retiring, and you will soon find relief.

When you buy a new broom, select a dozen of the smoothest and largest splits, pull them out, and lay them away to use in testing cake when it is baked.

Muskmelons should not be kept on the ice too long before serving, as they lose their flavor if they become too cold; two hours is long enough to keep them on ice.

To set the color in black or dark hosiery, collars, cuffs, etc., put a large tablespoonful of black pepper in a bowl of water, and let the articles lie in it for a couple of hours.

Mildewed linen may be restored by soaking the spots white with, covering them with fine chalk scraped to powder, and rubbing it well in. Or soak in buttermilk and spread on the grass in the sun.

Never use soap in the water when cleaning oilcloths. It fades the colors and breaks up the paint. Ammonia, also, is to be avoided, because it gives the cloth a dull, dead look. If a brush is used, it should be a soft one; but it is better not to use any, except in cases when the oilcloth has been long neglected, or poorly washed for some time previously.

Cut glass, the crevices of which readily secrete dust, needs to be washed with hot soda, and the crevices scrubbed with a moderately stiff brush. Then rinse in warm water and wipe dry with tissue paper.

Potato poultices are used with success in erythematous, or inflammation of the eyes. It is stated that when the trouble has been of an acute character, these poultices have proved successful when other kinds have failed. The following is the recipe for making them: Boil the common potato, mash or bruise soft, and then stir in a little finely pulverized elm bark. Apply the poultices in the usual manner.

To make fine shirt bosoms stiff. After starching in warm boiled starch, dry, and then starch in some of the cold boiled starch and fold until ready for ironing. If a wrinkle should happen to make its appearance, take a small cloth wet in the starch and rub the wrinkle out and iron again.

Scented powders for sachets, handkerchief boxes and bureau drawer pads can easily be made at home. For rose powder, mix three ounces of cornstarch with one of rose powder, and pass through a fine sieve. Pour on eight drops of attar of rose, and mix well. For violet powder mix together four ounces of cornstarch, twenty drops of essence of bergamot and twenty drops of essence of ambergris.

To remove ants from a closet the most efficacious method is to grease a tin plate with lard and place it on the closet floor under the shelves. The ants will seek the lard in preference to anything else; and in a little while the plate will be covered with them, when they can be destroyed and the plate returned for another capture.

Recipes for the Table.

Lemon Pie.—Beat one cup of sugar and one egg together until light, then add a half-pint of water, two large soda crackers, rolled fine, and the juice and yellow rind of one lemon. Line two small or one large pie dish, pour in the mixture, cover with an upper crust and bake in a quick oven thirty minutes.

Graham Cakes.—Separate three eggs. Beat the yolks, add to them a pint of milk, a teaspoonful of salt and a pint and a half of Graham flour. Beat until smooth, add a tablespoonful of melted butter, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and the well-beaten whites of the eggs; mix all carefully together and bake in gem pans, in a quick oven, thirty minutes.

Dutch Cake.—Take about two pounds of bread dough from the light dough when it is ready to mold, and add to it three ounces of butter, a cup of sugar and two eggs well beaten. Knead all these together, using flour to prevent sticking, until the dough is smooth and soft. Work in half a cup of seeded raisins, put into greased pans, stand to rise, and when light, bake the same as bread.

Chocolate.—Put one quart of milk in a double boiler. Moisten two ounces of cocoa and a tablespoonful of rice flour, with a little cold milk, stir continuously until it thickens, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Then, with an egg-beater or whisk, beat rapidly over the fire until light and smooth. Serve with whipped cream.

Clean Fritter.—Drain twenty-five clams and cut them into small pieces. Beat two eggs without separating, add to them a half-pint of milk and a pint of flour; beat until smooth, add a half-teaspoonful of baking powder and a dash of black pepper, mix well, and drop by spoonfuls into smoking hot fat, when brown on one side, turn and brown the other. When done, take out with a skimmer. Do not place them with a fork or they will be heavy.

White Cake.—Beat a quarter-pound of butter to a cream, add gradually, beating all the while, 12 cups of powdered sugar. When very light, add alternately, a little at a time, one cup (half-pint) of water and one cup of flour, beat until smooth, and stir in carefully the well-beaten whites of four eggs. Measure another cup and a half of sifted flour, add to it two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and sift again, stir this carefully into the cake, add the flavoring, either almond or lemon, and bake in a moderately quick oven about forty-five minutes.

Angel Cake.—Mix seven ounces of fine winter flour, one ounce of cornstarch, three-quarters of a pound of powdered sugar and one heaping teaspoonful of cream of tartar together, and then sift them five times. Take one and a half pints of whites of eggs and beat them until stiff and smooth as possible. Your cake will be tough and leathery unless the whites are sufficiently firm to bear an egg, and the texture very firm and fine grained. Now stir in the sifted materials as lightly and quickly as possible, using for the purpose a wire spoon or egg-beater. Bake in an ungreased Tuck's head, or better still, a Van Deusen cake mold, in a moderate oven, thirty-five or forty minutes. When done, take it from the oven, turn the bottom up, allowing the pan to rest on the table to cool. When the cake is cold, pass a liner knife around the sides, shake lightly, and then the cake will drop out. Ice it with vanilla, orange or almond soft icing.

Sponge Cake.—Separate six eggs. Weigh a half-pound of powdered sugar and sift it. Weigh and sift five ounces of flour. Now beat the yolks of the eggs until light and creamy. This will require fifty to twenty minutes, then beat in three-quarters of the sifted sugar. Now beat the whites of the eggs until frothy, not stiff, and then sprinkle in slowly, a teaspoonful at a time, the remaining sugar, whisking continually until a fine, thick mass is formed. Now carefully and lightly mix into the yolks alternately the whites and the flour, a little of each at a time. Always avoid hard beating, which will lighten your cake at once by destroying the air bubbles. Have ready greased small cups, fill them half full, dust the top with powdered sugar, and bake in a moderate quick oven about ten minutes. Lemon, vanilla or rose water may be added to the yolks as flavoring.

Profane, but Funny.

As far as known he (Senator Wade Hampton) is up to this time the only man who has had the temerity to tell the President an impious tale, and General Harrison was actually much pleased with the narrative.

"I always did like army stories," he says, "and you can't expect army stories to be good enough to tell a Sunday school class. I forgive the profanity of Senator Hampton's story out of consideration for its wit."

Theory Senator Hampton told was an army story—not particularly new and fresh, but new to the President.

"One day during the war," said the Senator, "the colonel of a South Carolina regiment was making a round of inspection. Sitting lazily on a rail fence whittling at a piece of shingle he found a man whose face was not familiar to him. The colonel was indignant. Approaching the loafer, he called out to him with all proper severity: 'Who are you, sitting here in this fashion?' 'Sir,' responded the man on the fence, continuing his whittling, 'I am the chaplain of the—' St. Regiment. Now who in—are you?'—(Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

Both Good Reasons.

The New Graduate—I can never be your wife. We would not be happy. You are too extravagant in your habits.

Augustus—Extravagant? Why, I am as economical as a deacon. I have to be.

"Then I can never be your wife." "Because I'm economical?" "No; because you have to be."

Wife—Come in to supper, Henry, dear. I've got some fresh raised bread for you.

Husband—I'm glad it is fresh raised. I don't feel like fighting much to-night, dear.

Hotter the Weather

Bigger the Proof.

As the weather grows warm, the sale of James Pyle's Pearlina Washing Compound rapidly increases. This proves that many women recognize the fact that PEARLINE makes washing and cleaning very much easier than when done with the ordinary means. Proves also that summer clothing, being of delicate texture and color, will not stand the rough usage necessary when washed with soap, and establishes the fact that PEARLINE, in doing away with the rubbing, lessens the wear and tear and fills a very important place. Delightful for bathing in fresh or salt water. Its ingredients render it harmless to the most delicate skin. Especially during the hot weather it is to your advantage to use PEARLINE, and only humane to supply your servants with it, and thus lighten their labors; besides you insure much better results. Beware of imitations. JAMES PYLE, New York.

The Purchasing Power of Wages.

There is always a possibility that differences in wages in various countries, when expressed merely in dollars and cents, may be more or less misleading, because of differences in the purchasing power of money which are not taken into the account. If a receives twice the wages of B, he is still no better off, if he has to pay twice as much. The true test is: how much more of the necessities and comforts of life can A buy with what he earns than B? Having this point in mind, the Wisconsin Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics has rendered a useful service by printing a table in its recent report, which shows the comparative purchasing power in quantities of wheat, meat or butter of the wages received for ten hours labor in certain European countries and in Wisconsin.

The wages given are for skilled blacksmiths, and all are reduced to the standard of one pound, sixteen ounces avoirdupois. It appears from this statement that the Wisconsin blacksmith can buy with one day's earnings forty pounds of wheat bread, or fourteen pounds of meat, or sixteen pounds of pork, or ten pounds of butter. His fellow-craftsman in Germany could buy with his wages only thirty pounds of bread, 34 pounds of meat, five pounds of pork, or 13 pounds of butter; the Swedish blacksmith could buy only 13 pounds of bread, 7 pounds of meat, 5 pounds of pork, or 23 pounds of butter; the Italian could buy a little more bread than the Swedish, but considerably less of the other commodities. In Great Britain the blacksmith can buy more bread than the American with his day's earnings, forty-eight as compared with forty pounds, but he can buy only nine pounds of meat, eleven of pork, or 54 of butter, as compared with the fourteen pounds of meat, sixteen of pork and ten of butter, which represents the equivalent, in food, of the wages of his more fortunate American brother. This one item of wheat bread in Great Britain is the only one with reference to which the foreign workman enjoys an advantage over the American. With this exception, the statistics show that the American workman can buy more of the several commodities in question than a workman in the same trade in Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Italy or Holland. This is a fact for workmen to remember the next time that some free trade orator tells them that the protective tariff is blighting their prosperity.

"Fingers and Toes Couldn't Better It."

Florida girls are not like the Alabama sisters (by the Age-Herald's estimate), for the former allow slang. But for downright emphasis of expression, and that levity which is the soul of wit, they yield the palm to no other state. Several weeks ago a number of brave young men and beautiful women from the interior came in on an excursion. A small knot of the visitors were walking leisurely through the park, when the following conversation was overheard between two of the visitors. It is reported verbatim, though it is impossible to reproduce the drawing, enunciated tone in which it was delivered: "Sal," asked one, displaying the folds of her new dress, and taking a sly look at her bustle, "Sal, how do my dress fit?" "Fingers and toes couldn't better it," "Do John seem to notice it?" "Can't keep his eyes often it."

"Do my bustle shake about any?" "Shakes just like jelly," replied Sal, as they proceeded on their way with an air of triumph indescribable. (Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union.

What Caused the Coolness.

"Higley, why does Oldboy refuse to speak to you? You used to be great friends."

"Yes, when we were bachelors, but he's married now."

"What difference does that make?" "Well the fact is, I made him a handsome wedding present of a buck, and he hasn't spoken to me since."

"What was the buck?" "Paradise Lost."

A Trifling Matter.

Wife—"Did you find out what ailed the clock last night after I told you it wouldn't run?"

Husband—"No, I sat up till nearly midnight and took it all to pieces and I saw nothing wrong with it."

Wife—"Well, I've thought what is the matter with it. I forgot to wind it."

MIDDLETOWN.

The members of the Middletown Cavalry will have an important meeting at the Town Hall, Tuesday evening, September 24, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Middletown M. E. church, clambake at Southwick's grove on Wednesday last was a grand success. The weather was fine, the crowd large and good natured and the bake one of the best that has ever been given at that place. The members of the church who had the attack in charge are to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment.

TIVERTON.

The Rev. Everett S. Woodworth, State Missionary from Providence, occupied the pulpit of the Congregational Church, Sunday, August 25th. In the morning he discoursed from the words of St. Paul to the Romans, ch. chapter 12 verses. "Present yourselves therefore unto God, as those who are alive from the dead" (Review Version) from which the following lines were given to the Christian in the desire to obtain eternal life.

1st Give yourself to definite consecration as exemplified by the poem of Frances K. Havergal: "Take my life and let it be for Consecration, Lord, to Thee."

2d Tell you are willing, ready to give yourselves to Him; you cannot change your disposition without the Divine power from above.

3d Having done your part, trust Christ. He will do his part perfectly. He will give strength and righteousness.

4th Leave with Christ every care and trouble. These are practical rules, there are very few lives into which some sad scene or great sorrow has not passed.

5th Keep in the spirit of Christ, avoid the spirit of faint feeling, making confession, the spirit of Christ keeps out these faults. There is nothing so lovely, so attractive as the spirit of Christ lived out in His people.

6th Acknowledge sin at once, there is nothing more foolish than to carry a sin about as a burden; the wisest, the most manly and honorable course is to acknowledge and confess sin. The Heavenly Father is displeased when one is trying to cover up a wrong doing.

7th and last, just the Holy Spirit to work in and for you, just as surely as you trust Him, so long will you be kept under the power of the living God. Following these rules, is to build upon a sure foundation.
